

History of Best Price Plumbing

Paul Price, Jr. founded Best Price Plumbing in early 1981 after the recession of 1980. Hard to believe that interest rates were 17 - 19% at that time and no one was buying or improving their homes.

A little history of myself and the plumbing industry...by Paul Price, Jr.

My father started his plumbing shop of repair and remodeling in the early 50's. As soon as I was about 12 years old and strong enough to lift old cast iron sinks, I was the go to guy when he needed a hand. The experience was interesting, a little tense you could say; my Dad wanted to show respect, care and neatness to all of his customers and I had to try to follow his lead.

In 1968, at the age of 17, I started my apprenticeship with very large commercial plumbing companies working on 25 story buildings, schools and health care centers. During the 5 year apprentice program, I was also doing a lot of plumbing in restaurants and remodeling projects. After that I spent 9 years with a contractor installing mostly new home plumbing.

This brings us to the end of 1980 when I decided to go out on my own with my master plumber's license. I had only the basics: an old pickup truck, used tools, a strong body and the will to be successful. I started to install underground plumbing in basements where homes were being converted from septic systems and connecting to community outside sewer lines. This involved lots of digging and breaking up of concrete floors. I used all of my past experience to get all of the small remodeling plumbing jobs I could find.

All of the above history, experience and theory of what was passed down to me built this company...respect, care and neatness to customers, this is what we offer.
